Gambling.org Adds Online Casino Software Reviews

Gambling.org is pleased to announce the addition of a new online casino software reviews section to their website.

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, USA, January 24, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Gambling.org is pleased to announce the addition of a new online casino software reviews section to their website. As a truly independent online casinos review guide, OnlineCasino.Gambling.org takes great pride in offering unbiased analysis as a cornerstone of their business charter. The new software review section will complement an existing line-up of online casino software reviews, gaming information, coverage of new state online gambling legalizations and up-to-date news coverage of the Internet gambling industry.

The new software review section includes comprehensive breakdowns of four of the most popular online casino software platforms used today. The type of software used is incredibly important. It is the software that powers web based casinos which can ultimately define a players' experience. Whether hosted by live dealers or a Random Number Generator (RNG), all online casinos are dependent on some sort of games/wagering software. Hence the importance of playing at an online casino powered by a third-party, trusted and certified gambling software platform.

The casino software platforms being reviewed and vetted by OnlineCasino.Gambling.org all have outstanding reputations in the online gambling industry. They are Microgaming, Playtech, Realtime Gaming and Saucify software.

Microgaming software has been powering many of the top ranked, most well-known casinos online for over 20 years, and is described as one of the very first software developers on scene when online gambling sites started to blossom. Today, Microgaming develops award-winning casino, mobile, online poker, bingo, sportsbook, live dealer, land-based and even network gaming platforms online.

Playtech has been around since 1999, making it one of the oldest online casino software platforms in operation today, now providing one of the current, largest suites of online games, including poker, live dealer games, bingo, scratch games, sports betting, mobile casino software and social games.

Realtime Gaming (RTG), founded in 1998, is an innovator of online betting software. Unlike many of its competitors, this casino software provider was originally established in the US – Atlanta, Georgia to be exact. But by 2008, Realtime Gaming moved its headquarters to the friendlier online gambling fold of Costa Rica in conjunction with its purchase by the Curacao, Netherlands Antilles-based, Hastings International. As a result of this buyout, Realtime Gaming has been better suited to solidify itself as a legitimate software provider beyond the realm of Costa Rica's prior, less-than-stellar reputation for lackadaisical regulation.

Saucify, in August 2014, was born out of the rebranding efforts of BetOnSoft, and has since taken over to bring this software company into the forefront of online gaming technology. The rebranding was likely due to the fact that the BetOnSoft name was not being recognized well enough in support of its outstanding platform. Furthermore, there is another competing software company by the name of BetSoft. With a burgeoning USA online casinos market on the horizon, there is a big push for the best branding going forward into both new markets and existing. It is largely understood that this new branding has its eyes on the probable, further development of the US market, and is reinventing itself in name only to "sauce things up".
