

Syncplify and Keyspace form strategic alliance

Keyspace partners with Syncplify to deliver the most secure and robust cloud backup solution to the Australian market.

WILMINGTON, DE, USA, February 10, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Syncplify, Inc., a dynamic US-based software development company, and Keyspace Technologies, one of the most innovative Australian system integrators, have signed a strong partnership agreement to bring the next generation cloud backup technology to the Australian market.

“We pride ourselves on being data security experts in the Australian market, we were looking for a product that would offer our clients a secure alternative to traditional FTP for their files and protection for our signature cloud back up product KeyGuard. Syncplify was the best product on the market, we found it easy to use, very secure and fit the needs of both us and our clients. We are excited to now be in partnership with Syncplify and look forward to bringing this fantastic product to the wider Australian market,” said David Williams, Chief Executive Officer at Keyspace Technologies.

“With the upcoming release of Syncplify.me Server! version 4.0, we have been actively looking for integration partners to create secure file transfer and backup solutions based on our cutting-edge technology. In the Australian market we had no doubt: Keyspace was our choice right from the start,” said Helga Kessler, Chief Operation Officer at Syncplify.

Syncplify’s Preferred Partners, like Keyspace, have in-house trained engineers who can provide design, deployment and support for Syncplify technologies as well as all the products and solutions that are a result of the Partner’s integration efforts.
