

More Than Just a Fitness Belt: The Running Belt Max is Breaking Amazon Sales Records Because of its Massive Appeal

The company behind the popular Running Belt Max is pleased to announce the recent success their product has brought in over the last six weeks.

ASHEBORO, UNITED STATES, February 22, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Since releasing the Running Belt Max on Amazon.com earlier this year, the company has made an unprecedented name for themselves within the industry. Customer reviews have been consistently flowing in from satisfied buyers on the site. Users are praising how helpful the running belt is for keeping items organized while running. Others say that they find the exercise belt is ideal for traveling, running errands and going on family outings.

"I absolutely love this running belt," said a recent reviewer. "Although I have no doubt that this waist pack is perfect for people who run or exercise, since it stays in place and secures your cell phone; I bought it because I needed a well-designed and water resistant waist belt for travel. With the Running Belt Max, I can comfortably carry all of my travel essentials and hide it under my shirt or jacket. After using it on my last trip, I can definitely say that this is now an essential gear item."

As of late February 2016, the Running Belt Max has received over 100 positive reviews on Amazon. This has caused the product to quickly rise within the Amazon Bestseller Charts. It is currently ranked as one of the best-selling Waist Packs in the Sports & Outdoors category.

“The Running Belt Max is taking the Amazon marketplace by storm.” explained Dave Chandler, the Creator of Running Belt Max. “Although we knew had a fantastic product, the rapid success of our running belt still took us all by surprise. We're having a hard time keeping them stock.”

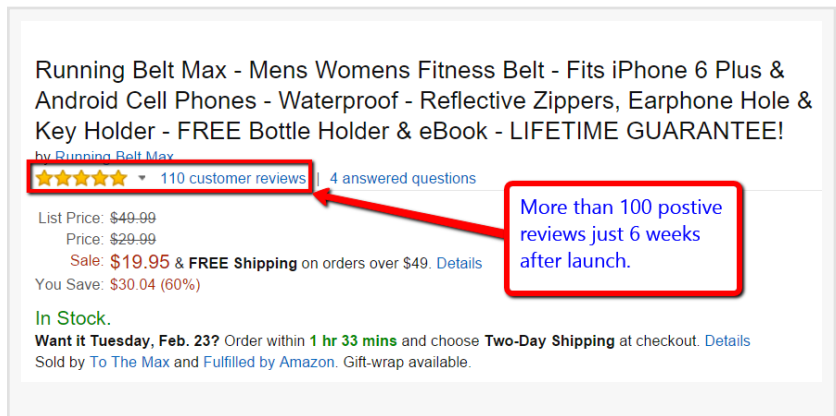

The Running Belt Max enables people to carry many different items in one convenient, thin and lightweight waist pack. With several pockets, the belt can easily hold personal items and large phones such as the iPhone 6 Plus and Samsung Galaxy Note 4. It also has a rubberized earbud port, key ring, bottle holder and separate sunglasses storage.
