

NSM Jukebox Services Mean Additional Revenue Streams

Digital Jukebox Giant Offers Unique Profit Option to Business Owners

ELMHURST, IL, USA, February 25, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The bottom line in almost any business these days is the profit numbers at the end of the year. Partnering with one vendor who cares as much about that as you do is absolutely key in today's business world, and NSM has just become that vendor for businesses around the globe.

Entering the Money Equation

Wondering how a jukebox company can actually help increase profits? The equation is fairly simple. NSM offers a line that means more control over the music throughout the location and reduced service calls on the jukebox. Often that alone can mean $5,000 to $10,000 in savings for every location with an installed jukebox.

"Many companies today pay a jukebox operator up to 50% of the cashbox or music fees off the top before the operator is ever paid," said Tony Lantz, V.P., Operations. "The simple reality is that if your jukebox is generating at least $150 a week in total sales, you could be getting more profit right now."

Typically digital jukeboxes were only available by route operators with very high rates. While that means getting the benefits of a jukebox in all of your stores or locations, it also means serious fees. With NSM, though, it's possible to own a digital touchscreen jukebox and take the route operator out of the equation.

A Phenomenal Features List

NSM offers far more to customers than a great digital jukebox interface. They have a flat fee for music content, so the more the jukebox earns, the more your company makes. Add that to infra-red touchscreens, broadband internet ready interfaces, auxiliary inputs, and a set your own pricing programs, these are easily the best the market has to provide today.

"Our options are some of the best in the industry. We've integrated apps, software, and much more to ensure they're as easy to use as your phone, and we have a huge music library that will keep your customers dancing throughout the night," said Gurbakhash Sanghera, President.

A $10,000 difference in your revenue next year could mean big things for your company, and NSM's services may mean that and much more for all of your locations.
