

Dollar Auction Game of The 1950s, New Useful Improvement

Exhibía® is the first bidding fee auction app officially approved by Facebook. Viva la "competitive social shopping" Watch your back eBay, here comes Exhibía

MIAMI, FLORIDA, USA, February 29, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- All the hype is around Exhibía's groundbreaking Facebook auction app which integrates a truly "Competitive" approach to online retail through competitive social bidding. Visitors to the site are immediately enthralled with the opportunity to win top selling Amazon merchandise and gift cards from popular US retailers. Guests utilize an authentic 1-click bidding system at Exhibía competitive social shopping which is now open for people who want to shop and enjoy friendly, honest competition.

Bidders are able to purchase bid packages that will help fund an item of interest and place it in sequence for the next live auction. Other features like, Exhibía's "Wish List" provides instant notification via text, email or Facebook message when a desired item becomes available for bidding.

So what is wrong with the status quo? "Bots" or "Shills" which are the scourge of the online 1-click auction industry are a type of "fake bidder" created by an auction house to ensure that enough customer paid bids are used before the items are won and the bidding session is closed. Exhibía eliminates the need for these nasty digital impostors by utilizing a patented "prefunding step" which is the same as buying bid packages towards an item of interest. Once the prefunding threshold is reached for that item, the item is opened for auction. In addition to prefunding, Exhibia.com utilizes a 3rd party verification for every guest who must be either Facebook or Google authenticated to verify that there is no "robot" bidders. Exhibía is the world's first and only prefunded bidding fee auction service.

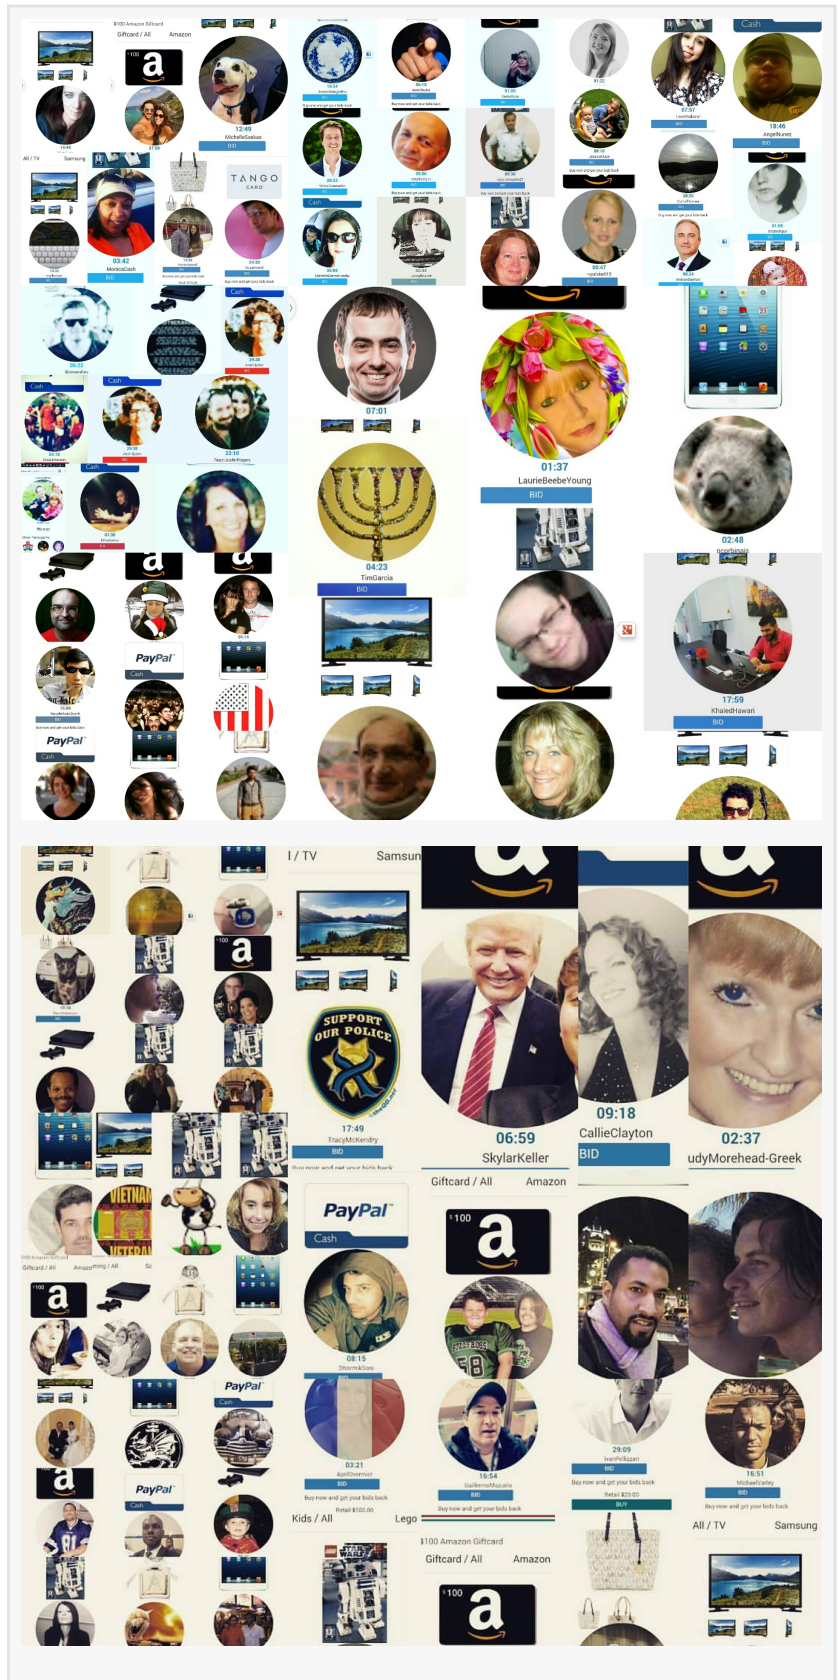

Exhibía creates a portal into a new frontier of retail utilizing Mr. John Nash's dollar auction game from the 1950s. We are dedicated to take down infringers by force if necessary, and to take Dr. Nash's game to a completely whole new level to what has already been an exceptional organic growth in more than 120 different countries. With the help of predator drones, it is our very real expectation to make this new project our most epic retail success story yet, Join exhibía Winners and get 3 free

After receiving a well-appreciated nod from Facebook & Google & Nasdaq and Adweek, “Exhibia Brings Real-Time Social Bidding to Facebook” was introduced to the world formally May 25, 2015 by Adweek. These series of media attention turned the tide of interest away from existing bid sites mired in controversy and plagued with dishonest techniques towards Facebook and Google bidder authentication technologies.
