

Teen Music Star Grace Craichy Sings Tuesday During 'Good Day Orlando' On WOFL Fox 35 TV

Rising Pop Star Grace Craichy will sing her new hit "Fly Me To The Moon" as part of the Sinatra100 project

ORLANDO, FLORIDA, USA, March 7, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Pop singer Grace Craichy will perform her first single "Fly Me To The Moon" this Tuesday in Orlando on WOFL Fox 35 TV during Good Day Orlando with hosts John Brown and Amy Kaulfeldt. The program begins at 9am Eastern Time.

"It's a great privilege to sing 'Fly Me To The Moon' on television in my hometown of Orlando Tuesday," Craichy said. "Frank Sinatra was an awesome singer and I love singing one of his greatest hits."

Grace Craichy's "Fly Me To The Moon" is the 5th Most Added song on FMQB (Friday Morning Quarterback) and #14 on AC40 National Radio Hits. The iconic classic song (written by Bart Howard) is part of the Sinatra100 project of tribute songs celebrating the 100th Birthday of music legend Frank Sinatra. The single was produced by Grammy® winning producer Bryan Lenox (Elton John, Garth Brooks, Amy Grant, Wynonna Judd, Sara Bareillis, Bruce Springsteen, Michael Bolton, Sir Cliff Richard, Michael W. Smith) at his recording studio in Nashville. Lenox has been working with many talented artists on this unique collection of Sinatra100 recordings.
