

Celebrating One Year of Successful Sales on Amazon

The company Travelsafer are celebrating one year of successful sales of their digital tire pressure gauge helping motorists stay safe on the roads.

NEW YORK, USA, March 22, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Travelsafer are proud to have reached thousands of American citizens helping them keep loved ones safe while travelling our roads in sometimes treacherous conditions. Properly inflated tires improve their fuel efficiency by 3.3 percent allowing them to save up to 11 cents per gallon at the pump and at the same time, reduce tire wear.

Since the Travelsafer digital tire pressure gauge was released this time last year, it has received over 550 positive reviews on Amazon which has caused it to climb the Best Sellers Rank for Automotive Accessories.

The Easter holiday break is only a few days away.

With the National Highway and Traffic Safety Administration collision statistics showing that over 30,000 individuals lose their life each year in traffic accidents across USA, Travelsafer is urging drivers to pay careful attention to road safety this Easter. Tires under inflated by 25 percent or more, are 3 times more likely to be cited as critical events in the pre-crash phase.

A spokesperson for Travelsafer says, "If you think a car fitted with a tire pressure monitoring system negates the need to check tire pressures, you are mistaken. Tire pressures may drop well below proper inflation risking poor contact with the road long before the TPMS warning light comes on. The TPMS light only comes on when the tire pressure gets too low or too high."

With the holiday period approaching Travelsafer is offering their digital tire pressure gauge at never seen before discount prices to encourage readers to take the time to check their tire pressures before venturing out in the wet this Easter.
