The consulting firm provides OSHA safety management services and programs for the construction industry.

NAPERVILLE, IL, USA, March 22, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/
-- Optimum Safety Management recently participated in the ASA Chicago Construction Expo and Safety Conference.

The conference was held on March 8, 2016 at Drury Lane Conference Center in Oakbrook Terrace, IL. Over 500 people attended the conference, which covered a variety of safety issues and topics in the construction industry. It is one of the largest conferences of its type in Chicagoland.

We don't just help businesses develop safety plans, we help them create a culture of safety that reaches every level of the business."

Steve Yates

Optimum Safety Management provides OSHA safety consultants and consulting services for many industries, including the construction industry. Optimum had a booth at the conference where they made several new business contacts and connected with current clients and customers.

"We are very pleased with the contacts we made at this year's ASA expo. Anytime we can connect with a business to help them manage their risks, it is a success for all involved," said Steve Yates, President of Optimum Safety Management (www.oshasafetymanagement.com).

Optimum works closely with businesses in the Construction, Industrial, Insurance, Manufacturing, and Healthcare industries to provide safety compliance services that manage risk and improve business safety practices. The company specializes in OSHA safety management, ensuring their clients are up-to-date with all the latest OSHA rules and regulations.

"We don't just help businesses develop safety plans, we help them create a culture of safety that reaches every level of the business. This inclusive approach improves productivity and profitability by reducing risk. Every plan is customized to the client which helps ensure success. Safety is of particular concern in the construction industry because there are so many external factors and pressures that must be balanced between safety and productivity. We take all of those factors into account to develop a safety management system that is effective without hindering the day-to-day work that needs to get done," explained Yates.

Optimum works with Owners, General Contractors, Subcontractors, and on OCIP/CCIP projects. To learn more about their services and programs, visit www.oshasafetymanagement.com.
