

More than half of Virtual Reality Headsets owners watch porn!

MIAMI, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, March 24, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Virtual reality is on the edge of revolutionizing the porn market (In fact, it has already been done). According to a study done by Virtual Porn 360, 78% of virtual reality users have watched porn in the past and 50% of those are regular consumers of this type of videos. This comes to support the trend observed in the second semester of 2015: the porn market is at the line of almost being the big responsible of the development of virtual reality technologies.

"Porn fans were waiting for it and we, professionals of the sector, did it" affirmed Virtual Porn 360's founder David Rodríguez in reference to the boom of virtual reality in the world of porn. "Porn always tries to mimic the real thing as closely as possible. Frankly, it is undeniable that virtual reality is a huge step forward in our sector", he then added.

The future of adult entertainment

Nowadays, being able to watch virtual reality porn is within the reach of many, given that an infinity of goggles and virtual reality headsets exist ranging from the simplest ones (Google Cardboard) to the most sophisticated ones (Oculus Rift, HTC Vive). Virtual Porn 360 is one of the few to offer virtual reality content and especially in 360 degrees, thus making the experience much more immersive than what is currently being provided by other webpages.

In fact, virtual reality was one of the main topics that was drawing the attention of the crowds at the 2016 Mobile World Congress in Barcelona during which various brands were presenting their novelties in terms of smartphones, tablets and other gadgets. This congress was a gauge to the trends that are to come and has shown a bright future for the adult entertainment in virtual reality.
