Dr. Mark Chiungos Selected As A Top Chiropractic Practice for Chelmsford Area

Chelmsford, Ma., April 18, 2016

The chiropractic practice of Dr. Mark Chiungos is very pleased to announce that it has been selected by the nationwide health care organization, Opencare, as "A Top Chiropractic Practice for the Chelmsford Ma. community. To be selected as a "Best of 2016 Chiropractor in Chelmsford, Ma." a practice must have received great reviews from clients that have received chiropractic care within the past year. Additionally, the practice must strive to be open and accessible in communications to all patients.

Since 2012, Opencare's mission is to change "the way patient's and health providers interact." The Company is focused on creating an amazing experience for patients to find the right health provider... and making health care more personable, approachable and accessible at all times.

Those selected as a "Top Chiropractic Practice", must have received strong favorable feedback from their patients including excellent communication and responsive health care. Surveys show that 63% of new patients look online for health care providers. A strong emphasis is placed upon reviews, experience, location and availability. Opencare's criteria limit the number of eligible professionals in each geographic area and are a consumer's assurance of excellence in health care.

Dr. Mark Chiungos of a Chiropractic Wellness Place, PC, continually strives to keep abreast of the latest trends in chiropractic care. Back and shoulder pain, neck pain, headaches, hip, knee and foot pain, and other chronic conditions that impact the enjoyment of life, are what Dr. Chiungos dedicates himself to everyday. What makes his practice a little bit different than others is his commitment to ongoing communication and feedback from each patient before, during and after treatment. According to Dr. Chiungos," All people do not respond to Chiropractic the same; responses to care and recovery times are often affected by a number of variables... It has been my experience that patients who develop a trust in their doctor, take suggestions, show up for treatment on a regular schedule, and work to communicate honestly have a better outcome."

The selection by Opencare nicely fits with Dr. Chinos' philosophy of easy and open communication at all times with his patients. Further, it reaffirms his message to each patient that their chiropractic care is a true partnership that works best when both patient and doctor each commit to fulfilling their respective responsibilities.
