

Special Benefit Dinner on Behalf of Linking the World, May 2, 2016

The Role of Meaningful Choices in Countering Extremism

DALLAS, TEXAS, USA, April 28, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- AlliedBarton Security Services, the industry's premier provider of dedicated, highly trained security personnel, will host a special benefit dinner on behalf of the international humanitarian organization, Linking the World, on May 2, 2016.

"We are honored to support the great work of Linking the World, an organization with great leadership that works tirelessly to build resilient communities in areas of instability and conflict," says Pete Haas, Managing Partner, AlliedBarton. "We know that our security is dependent upon proactive measures overseas, and that's why we are today pledging an additional $10,000 of support."

"Fragility and instability leads to the exploitation of vulnerable populations which decreases global security and prosperity, and Linking the World greatly depends on the support and generous contributions of our corporate partners," said Mina Chang, Chief Executive Officer, Linking the World. "Thanks to AlliedBarton's donation we are able to provide meaningful choices to people living within impoverished communities."

The Benefit Dinner is to be held at the Bush Library, from 5pm to 9pm on May 2, 2016, with speakers to include: Mina Chang, CEO, Linking the World and the keynote provided by John Melkon, Director at the Center for Study of Civil Military Operations at the United States Military Academy West Point.
