

Moving Made Easier - There's an App for That

Executive Auto Shippers Partners with New App moveCHECK

MONROE, IA, US, May 6, 2016

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Moving can be an overwhelming process. From finding boxes to changing utilities, the to-do list seems daunting. Add in moving across the country and the list gets a little longer. Unfortunately, most people don't know all the moving resources and options available, much less where to find them.

One unfamiliar resource in particular is car shipping. "Most people assume when they see a car carrier on the highway, it's cars for a dealership," says Matt Van Gelder, CEO of Executive Auto Shippers, "car shipping is for anyone looking to move a vehicle over a long distance without putting the wear and tear on the engine and body." That's why when the team at moveCHECK reached out with an idea to create an app to help people during their move, EAS was on board. "With everyone turning to their phones when they are in need, we knew creating an app would be the right choice," said Terence Channon, Co-Founder of moveCHECK. Channon said they choose to partner with EAS because "they had a great reputation from some well-known principles like Better Business Bureau."

Once they had all their other resources and contacts in place, moveCHECK was ready to finalize their app.

The moveCHECK app was created to assist people with every aspect of their moving process. The goal is to give them a more personalized, organized, and stress-free way to manage everything that goes into a move before, during, and after move day. The app will include features such as packing tips, finding local movers, and helping switch utilities.

"When we can offer quality resources to our customers at their fingertips that add value to their circumstance, we're providing the best experience possible," replied Channon, "partnerships like ours with Executive will do just that.”

moveCHECK launched on May 2nd and is available for both iPhone and Android.

“We’re excited about this new partnership with the app moveCHECK. A lot of people who move, especially cross country, don’t know shipping a car is an option, or think about it until last minute. By being on the moveCHECK app, people will find one more resource (auto shipping) to make their move a little easier,” says Van Gelder.
