

Young but not so reckless, Solisco is turning 25!

MONTREAL, QUÉBEC, CANADA, May 6, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Twenty-five years ago, two entrepreneurs from the Beauce region, started up the Solisco printing company. In the words of Jean Leloup, it was "the hour of communication;" but most of all, it was an era when modern technology was taking off like a rocket. While the communications world was being revolutionized, Solisco hoisted its sails and charted a course to success.

Now, Solisco is proud to celebrate its 25th anniversary. Young but not so reckless, Solisco continues to forge ahead as an innovative leader in a continuously evolving market, while maintaining a stellar investment pace. Moreover, Solisco owns the most cutting-edge rotary press in Canada, an investment of over $15 million made possible in part by financial support from the Caisse de dépôt et de placement du Québec and FondAction.

For 25 years now, Solisco's team of 400 experts has remained focused on the needs and expectations of publishers and retailers across North America. "Our goal is to ascertain our clients' needs, to understand their business sector and its challenges, and to provide creative solutions that will ensure their success," said Alain Jacques, President and Co-Founder of Solisco.

Solisco has only one goal for tomorrow and all of its future birthdays: to continue to innovate, to adapt to a continuously changing market, and to work closely with its clients, suppliers and partners. Happy birthday to our team of experts!
