The door is locked. The clock is ticking down. There's only one way out. Fortunately for puzzle-lovers, that way is by following a complicated string of clues and riddles. But even if you're not a puzzle whiz, fear not: you won't be alone. Within each of MindGame Room's themed escape rooms, up to five players must work together, communicate, and avoid the temptation to elect a leader through lengthy public debate. If they're successful, they just might escape the room before their 60 minutes are up.

MindGame Room is the perfect fun activity for couples, friends, family or coworkers to learn more about them and your relationships as you must count and work with each other with only one goal in mind, Escape, which has a very deep psychological background.
