USBs in the industry, have expanded their available selections to include human-shaped USB drives in any fashion imaginable. In addition to the endless possibilities and designs conceived by clients and brought to life by USBCopier, now the personalization has expanded to mascots, avatars, or even a detailed rendition of a particular individual.

Consisting either of elastomers such as silicone, or low malleability plastics, the new generation of personified flash memory will stay unblemished and unbroken to act as a long-lasting reminder of any business's commitment to quality. Cyrus Riahi, Marketing Manager for USBCopier states, "The new line of USB people makes branding a product or service incredibly easy. Ideal for businesses with an avatar or personified "minion" representing them, USBCopier's new line of flash memory will add identity and charm to an organization's hardware. Riahi continues, "The cost of marketing in many cases is on par with, if not greater than, the cost of the product itself.
