

Can this interactive series keep your kids reading this summer?

Being There Awakenings, an International Bestselling interactive novel may just be the key to keep your kids reading this summer!

LONG ISLAND, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, May 25, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Do you remember the glow on the face of a child curled up in your lap with sparkling eyes gazing up at you with wonder and excitement as you read their favorite book to them? Each written word stimulating their imagination and creativity as they passed across your lips leaving them wanting for more at the end of the tale.

Then watching them grow with boundless imagination acting out their favorite characters in play stimulated by stories they grew to love through reading their favorite tales. What would you do for a chance to keep that excitement and creativity alive in your children, allowing the written word to continue to stimulate creative thought and imagination?

This is one goal of international bestselling author, RC Henningsen with the debut of his original fan interactive series of novels beginning with "Being There Awakenings". The Being There series of interactive novels is a coming of age series for readers of all genres ages thirteen and up and invites readers to participate in the creative process.

It's all too familiar these days to see children progress from reading inventive tales the likes of "Harry Potter" and "How to train your dragon", to nonstop gaming and texting. This often marks the beginnings of a noticeable slide from sociable family life to a life of more sequestered, and sometimes almost antisocial gaming where kids separate themselves from real life and social situations as they become increasingly engrossed with texting and electronic gaming.

“

There is magic in all of us, and it exists in our imaginations and our ability to create. To nurture this process, we open a world of endless possibility... Let it die, and possibility dies as well.

RC Henningsen

The goal is not to inhibit children from progressing along with their peers in the use of electronic devices, but to help find a balance between the use of electronic gaming devices and continued stimulation of their imagination and natural creativity through participation in a true interactive series of novels.

With the Being There series of true interactive novels, not only are readers given the opportunity to help to develop, guide and even redirect the course of the story line for each addition to the series, they are also given multiple opportunities to have their name added to the cast of characters to be immortalized in print forever!

Will you be the next character to be... Immortalized in print for the world to see?

The Being There series of interactive novels is an open ended series that encourages participation keeping the creative process alive. It is not as simple as placing a vote for your favorite answer to the question posed at the end of the book and moving on. The interaction really begins via the Being There Insiders newsletter, where readers will be asked for their input on important topics the likes of; Naming characters, planets and galaxies. Selecting scene locations and whether or not they occur on this planet. Developing and naming new alien life forms, equipment, transports, and robotics and defense technology. Selecting artwork and covers for each addition to the series... and, like an emperor of Rome, on occasion readers will be called upon to decide the fate of one or more of the characters.

Plus, each addition to the series will provide another opportunity to become the next person added to the cast of characters, just like Chris and Connor, brothers from Long Island, NY who make their debut appearance in Being There Awakenings, the first story of the series.

Readers are urged to submit a well thought out and descriptive character or chapter suggestion based upon their favorite part of the story line to be considered for inclusion in the series. As Being There Awakenings is a crossover novel, submissions for Sci-fi, Action, Adventure, fantasy and even a touch of romance are welcomed and may even result in a spin off series of interactive novels.

If selected by our reviewers, your name will be added to the cast of characters to be immortalized in print for the world to see!

Strong reviews for the debut novel in the series, Being There Awakenings suggest this may just be the answer to keep the spark alive for continued reading and stimulation of the creative process, even through the summer months.

You can join the fun by picking up your copy today at Being There Awakenings.com, Amazon.com and BarnesandNoble.com.

Richard Henningsen
5163025040
email us here
R Henningsen

This press release can be viewed online at: <http://www.einpresswire.com>

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in this press release please contact the company listed in the press release. Please do not contact EIN Presswire. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry. EIN Presswire disclaims any content contained in these releases.

© 1995-2016 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.