

Rolling From Vancouver to Rio

A team of explorers embarking on an epic 22,000+ miles trip from Vancouver to Rio De Janeiro on a mission to spread the word about the sharing economy.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, June 7, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- USA – June, 2016 - Most ambitious and inspiring adventure powered by sharingXchange. A team of explorers & filmmakers embarking on an epic 22,000+ mile life-changing trip from Vancouver to Rio De Janeiro for the 2016 Summer Olympics and after continuing to Patagonia before returning back to the states on a mission to spread the word about the sharing economy and sharing in general.

Roll to Rio team is traveling on the west coast line within the US, where they started the trip from Seattle on May 14th. You can see more information about the trip on our website www.rolltorio.com and from the video for the Bulgarian National Television <https://youtu.be/fFcD-IT5P00>. Their mission is to spread the word about the sharing economy and sharing in general. In addition they are promoting a healthier lifestyle, sharing the road and saving the environment this way. Roll to Rio team will be filming a documentary and weekly web episodes on the way about people who are sharing their unique houses such as boats, tree houses, glamping tents and other cool places to stay that can be rented as short term rentals.

This trip is a continuation from our previous 55 day, 4,000 kilometer cycling journey through 12 countries from Sofia Bulgaria to London for the 2012 Summer Olympics. The trip was inspired by Mladen Belchev a Bulgarian who nearly lost his life when hit by a motorcycle while cycling. It was his dream to ride his bike to London, and his daughter Kate, to celebrate her father's survival, organized this ride. Mladen was joined by John Hazlewood and 10 others, and his dream became everyone's dream, to ride to London. The team is on a mission to inspire others and spread the word about sharing while cycling to the next destination - Rio.
