

A better way to search for recipes and diets

the new food search engine

IVANO FRACENA, TN, ITALIA, June 8, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- How many times did you need to find a particular recipe? Then you couldn't come out with anything, just because you don't like an ingredient or you are allergic to something, let's say you are simply following a diet. <https://todo.recipes/> has the solution, a powerful search food engine that provides every sort of customization.

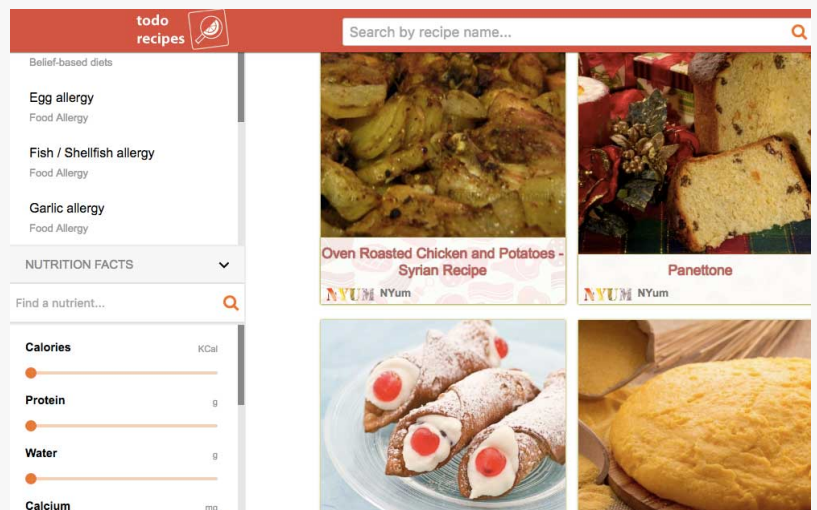

<https://todo.recipes/> provides recipe search filtered by ingredients, so for example you can search all recipes that contain only "bananas" and "apples", or you can search the recipes that don't contain "onions". Even more you can compute a filter based on the percentage of presence of an ingredient, let's say we want a recipe with: 25% bananas, 25% apples and 50% pears. Anything that you can imagine to do with ingredients just do a rapid search on todo.recipes.

Another interesting feature is the filter by nutrients: limiting the calories in a recipe, remove the sugar or cholesterol, raise at maximum the minerals(magnesium, calcium, iron, etc. ). A very interesting feature for nutritionists and people trying to control their diet.

And last but not least are the diets. To combine all those filters simply select a diet you prefer and you are done, todo.recipes will search among the indexed blogs and websites for recipes, showing you only the best results.
