

Freda Brown of Divorce Financial Services to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

SOUTHWICK, MASSACHUSETTS , USA, June 16, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Divorce can be difficult even when both parties agree. The division of assets – house, all property, money, retirement funds, everything that has worth – is one of the most difficult issues that must be decided. According to a recent study conducted by Forbes, the average cost of a contested divorce ranges from $15,000 to $30,000, with most of that money spent on legal fees.

It's true what they say: "Divorce is hell." But should you choose to file for divorce, there is a way to make the process more manageable, both financially and emotionally, and protect you from some of the more nefarious practices of divorce attorneys.

Freda Brown is the founder of Divorce Financial Services. As a Certified Divorce Financial Analyst (CDFA), Freda works with individuals and couples in divorce to navigate the financial issues associated with the division of marital assets and help them reach a settlement that is financially equitable for both parties.

"Anyone who is thinking about divorce should speak to a financial advisor first," says Freda. "I look at the big picture. You can't ask for what you want until you know what you have. Once you know what you have, you can negotiate to get what you want."

“

Anyone who is thinking about divorce should speak to a financial advisor first.

Freda Brown

Freda was inspired to establish Divorce Financial Services after her own experience in divorce. After weeks of being needlessly overcharged by their respective attorneys, Freda decided to use her three decades of experience as an enrolled agent and master tax advisor and spent the next year e-mailing with her husband to reach a fair settlement they could take back to their lawyers.

As a CDFA, Freda can assist in the preparation of financial statements, look for inconsistencies in your spouse's financial statement, and determine the possible tax consequences associated with the division of property, property notes, pensions, retirement, alimony and child support.

Most importantly, however, Freda helps both parties rebuild their lives on reasonable financial information and planning.

“Everyone’s finances are completely different. Everyone has a different story and different problems, so you can’t take a cookie-cutter approach to a divorce,” says Freda. “I don’t make decisions for people. I give them options. I can’t solve everything but I can help put them at ease.”

CUTV News Radio will feature Freda Brown in an interview with Jim Masters on June 20th at 10am EDT.

Listen to the show on BlogTalkRadio.

If you have a question for our guest, call (347) 996-3389.

For more information on Divorce Financial Services, visit www.divorcefinancialservices.net

Lou Ceparano
CUTV News
(631) 850-3314
email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <http://www.einpresswire.com>

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in this press release please contact the company listed in the press release. Please do not contact EIN Presswire. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry. EIN Presswire disclaims any content contained in these releases.

© 1995-2016 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.