

Due to continued global expansion Adjuno move to a bigger UK Head Office

In February this year, Adjuno was unveiled as a new global software company, offering a vast product portfolio of cloud-based SCM and PLM Solutions.

KWAI CHUNG , HONG KONG, HONG KONG, June 22, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In February this year, Adjuno was unveiled as a new global software company, offering a vast product portfolio of cloud-based Supply Chain Management and PLM solutions. This newly branded enterprise is the result of the merger between the two former partners software companies 'ediTRACK' and 'CS Solutions'.

Owing to the company's rapid growth and continued global expansion, a new UK Head Office was sought to house its growing departments. Consequently, on May 23rd 2016, all staff based out of its Datchet office in the South East, relocated to the bigger and newly refurbished premises just 5 miles away in Langley.

The new office has doubled its headquarters size with an additional floor and extra parking. It also benefits from being within close walking distance of Langley train station which is on a direct route into, and out of London Paddington.

Moreover, 'Crossrail' the new high frequency, high capacity railway for London and the South East will be coming to Langley in 2018. This all means that the office is more accessible than previously for many of its staff, as well as its insurance and retail client base, which include customers such as; AXA, ASOS, John Lewis, M&S and New Look.

Julian Clay, CEO at Adjuno commented...

"It's great news that we are continuing to grow our team, services and products in order to maintain our position as a leader in the delivery of innovative supply chain solutions. Now we have offices in Langley, Coventry and Leeds as well as Asia-Pacific regional headquarters in Hong Kong, plus a wider global network of representatives. This means we have the expertise and resources needed to implement our solutions anywhere in the world."
