Naperville Internet Marketing Firm, Design & Promote, Hosts Free Seminar On Website Security July 14

Design & Promote is partnering with WebClinic Pro to deliver the free seminar on Wordpress security. RSVPs are being accepted now.

NAPERVILLE, IL, USA, June 22, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On July 14, Naperville area business owners can learn how to improve their website security. Design & Promote, a local internet marketing and web design company, will be presenting "Debunking Website Security Myths" from 3 p.m. - 5 p.m. at the Naperville Area Chamber of Commerce. The seminar will be held at the Chamber offices in Conference Room A, located at 55 S. Main St. Suite 351, Naperville, IL 60540. The seminar is free and open to the public, but RSVPs are required. Registrations are being accepted online by clicking Here.

The seminar is a joint production between Design & Promote and WebClinic Pro, another local company that specializes in web security. "Debunking Website Security Myths" will guide attendees through why websites get hacked and how site owners can protect themselves before it's too late. Wordpress security will be a particular focus.
"During this seminar, we're going to look at some of the most common website security myths and debunk them."

"There are a lot of myths surrounding website security and that has made some websites unsecure. What used to work, may not work any longer. Hackers are constantly evolving and testing the limits of website security and web managers need to do the same to protect websites. During this seminar, we're going to look at some of the most common website security myths and debunk them. Then we'll share tips on how to improve the security of an existing website," explained Bruce Jones, CEO of Design & Promote (www.designandpromote.com).
