

Oceanic Art Photographer Kevin Dodge Selects David Wiener Ventures for Worldwide Representation

DELRAY BEACH, FLORIDA, USA, July 5, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Delray Beach, FL, June 28, 2016 — Oceanic art photographic Kevin Dodge has selected David Wiener Ventures to represent his art worldwide. "When people see my work, they sense that they are seeing a something truly unique. As I free dive with my camera, I capture rarely seen images of ocean life and a rare opportunity for others to glimpse its beauty. As an artist, I wanted someone to represent me who not only recognizes and appreciates the quality of what I am doing; I also wanted someone who has a global view of art, marine life and the business world. After meeting David Wiener and seeing his work, I knew he would be the right choice to represent me," said Dodge.

Born in South Miami and a third generation native, Kevin's latest work is the culmination of a career in fashion photography shooting for all the top labels that has led to a completely different form of beauty and elegance. From powerful and dangerous swordfish and sharks to the thrilling shallow world of bonefish and tarpon, Kevin captures the art of these exciting creatures in a way that is both timeless and mysterious.

Over 20+ years, Kevin Dodge's work has been featured in numerous international magazines and media including his most recent cover of Emerald Coast Magazine.

His creations are in the collections of Coca Cola, Ford, IBM, Dell, Budweiser, Hyatt Hotels, Bank of America, Johnson & Johnson, Jimmy Buffet, and numerous others.

David Wiener stated, "Growing up on the water has given me a deep respect and passion for ocean life – its beauty and our responsibility to preserve it. David Wiener Ventures has had numerous commercial successes centered on ocean and marine activities and this new artist

What Kevin captures with his camera enables us to see the magic of our oceans and the beauty within this seemingly silent world. We are proud to represent him and excited to share his art with the world.”
