

TheSSLMart Launches HTTPS SSL Certificate As Low As $4.95/year for Facebook Apps & Personal Blogging Website

TheSSLMart officially launching its services to all customers needing SSL certificate security solution for their WordPress Blog & Facebook Apps Pages.

GEORGETOWN, PENANG, MALAYSIA, June 28, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TheSSLMart.com is officially launched with massive discount on SSL certificates up to 90% with a wide range of SSL website security certificate solutions for different web purpose usage such as Facebook application SSL, personal blog and intranet websites as well as SSL for mail server such as Microsoft Exchange & the famous Green Address Bar EV SSL for ecommerce enabled websites.

With the rise of of Web 2.0 and social networking, ensuring the safety and security of the information transmitting via the browser and server becomes a crucial point of concern. People are spending more time online and logged in and they are communicating more than just their credit card. The use of SSL encryption is a common way to ensure data confidentiality between websites and user connections. Sensitive data transferred via web traffic - account access and login details, emails and messages, checkout pages, online banking transactions and the like - is safest when secured with SSL certificate. The use of SSL certificate is a sustainable competitive advantage for businesses who are serious about protecting their customer data online and to boost the SEO ranking of their websites as announced by Google last year.

Today, it is estimated that more than 4.5 million sites are using SSL certificates issued to help protect web sites which collect sensitive information such as logins and credit card numbers. This numbers continue to goes strong as more and more websites become self-aware on how important of enabling 'HTTPS' for their website.

"Our aims is to help all website and store owners able to enjoy and buy the same SSL Certificate offered by certificate authority at the price cheaper than the retail price with the concept of "Same Cert, Same Brand, Cheaper Price", says Andrew Low - CMO of TheSSLMart.
