

Intermountain Healthcare Named to 2016 Most Wired List

Named to list 17 of past 18 years

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, USA, July 11, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Intermountain Healthcare has been named on the Hospitals & Health Networks 2016 HealthCare's Most Wired list. The list is based on a collaborative study conducted by H&HN, the American Health Association (AHA), and the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (CHIME). Intermountain has been named among the nation's most technologically savvy hospital systems in 17 of the 18 years the survey has been conducted.

"Being one of HealthCare's Most Wired is more than just complying with the rules of a survey," said Intermountain's Marc Probst, Vice President and Chief Information Officer. "It's about fostering relationships between people and technology, processes and people, and supporting tools that make those relationships thrive. We do that at Intermountain every day. And we do it really well."

The Most Wired survey of hospitals and health systems nationwide was based on three categories: cybersecurity, new ways of delivering care and engaging with the patient, and increased use of predictive analytics for population health. Intermountain's TeleHealth program and Connect Care portal are prime examples of its efforts to engage patients in their health through technology.

"Hospitals are breaking out of their traditional four walls and providing care where and when patients need it," said Rick Pollack, president and CEO of the AHA. "These Most Wired hospitals exemplify this transformation by harnessing technology, engaging patients and offering services remotely. And, removing policy and other barriers to telehealth will allow even faster adoption of these amazing technologies."

Earlier this year, respondents completed 680 surveys, representing 2,146 hospitals, across the United States.
