Homespun and Hands-On is a unique, fun, and simple-to-use learning platform for parents, grandparents, teachers, educational groups, schools, and after-school programs seeking to inspire children to learn and reach their learning potential.

The Hands-On Educational System has been researched, developed and field-tested and is ready for sale. These products have been used for years in homeschooling, classroom settings, and homes where dedicated parents want to find creative ways to supplement their children's conventional education.

“My 7-year-old son and I thoroughly enjoyed the Van Gogh in Clay Hands-On Kit! It was an engaging activity that allowed him to create his own clay masterpiece using beautifully crafted wooden tools and high quality non-toxic paint, said Annette Reif Rexroad, Essex, VT. She continues, “Best of all, the tools can be used again and again and there is plenty of paint to be used for future art projects too. Now when my son sees ‘The Starry Night’ he yells out That’s one of Van Gogh’s paintings!”

“The Hands-On Educational System™ was developed over many years of providing a quality education for my children in our Vermont homeschool,” said Cheryl Owens, Founder and Executive Director. She continued, “It was born out of the need for an educational system that would introduce and guide them through a variety of concepts, while effectively holding their attention through the process.”

About The Homespun Group: The Homespun Group offers Homespun and Hands-On®, an educational system designed to inspire the love of learning. The Hands-On Educational System™ offers a variety of hands-on projects, hands-on games, supplemental materials and miscellaneous
