

Singapore Startup wins million-dollar contract in China with bacteria

Alpha Process Solutions holds the inauguration of a million-dollar water treatment project at Marina Bay Sands on 12th June 2016 at CESS.

SINGAPORE, SINGAPORE, SINGAPORE, July 15, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Singapore, 15 July 2016 – Alpha Process Solutions holds the inauguration of a million-dollar water treatment project at Marina Bay Sands on 12th June 2016. This event highlights collaborative efforts among Alpha Process Solutions, their China partners as well as China authorities in the move towards purifying polluted canals in the region via sustainable methods.

The project is based in the industrial zone at Xuefu Pukou District in Nanjing, China. Canals run through the densely populated area and are fed industrial waste daily through three sewage pipes. Water conditions have severely deteriorated over the years, affecting standard of living and the environment. No solutions have been successful despite employing different treatment methods.

Alpha Process Solutions has since stepped forward, proposing a solution that has proven to be both effective and sustainable.

Mr. Albert Teo explained our food digester system and its benefits for small restaurants to Dr. Amy Khor.

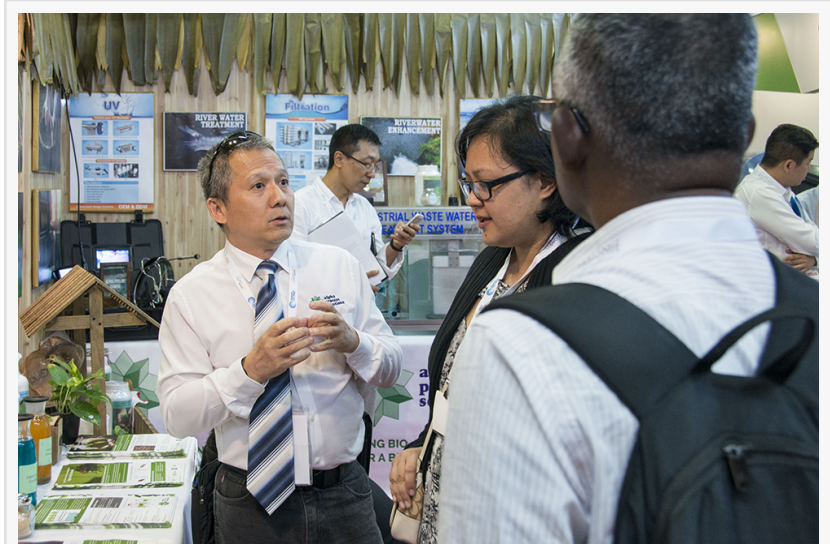

APS and Richland Biotech Team Water treatment Collaboration

By harnessing the power of organic bio-organisms, good bacteria help break down unwanted waste, thus purifying water and restoring the canals' ecological balance. No chemicals or large equipment are necessary to facilitate the process or conduct maintenance.

Alpha Process Solutions has signed the contract to collaborate with Richland Biotech, Shanghai Shuidum Intelligence Technology Co. Ltd and the Environmental Minister of Shanghai in this initiative.

Founded in 2015 by Mr. Albert Teo, Alpha Process Solutions provides sustainable and environmentally natural solutions to Earth's problems. It has seen rapid yet solid growth in just less than 1 year, and now has clients across various industries in just its 1st year of operation.

“The progress Alpha Process Solutions has made in this one year is a valuable accomplishment for our team. We're confident that the values we hold, and the bio-organic solutions we implement, make our team more robust and better able to provide natural and environmentally-friendly solutions to advertisers. Our commitment to give only organic and natural sustainable solutions has been the key to success,” says Albert, FOUNDER of Alpha Process Solutions.

Mr. Albert Teo passionately explains the power of bacteria

In its first year, Alpha Process Solutions has successfully worked with clients from across industries, ranging from the agricultural industry to water treatment industry.
