Analysts forecast the global jams, jellies, and preserves market to grow at a CAGR of 3.7% during the period 2016-2020.

Summary

The use of jams, jellies, and preserves is increasing in salads, cookies, pizzas, sandwiches, and smoothies as customers are willing to expand their taste pallet. In the new era, where healthy eating is becoming the prime motive of many consumers, the vendors increase their sales by focusing on products that are both indulgent, have high fruit content, and/or are sugar-free. In terms of consumption, the majority of jams, jellies, and preserves are consumed in European countries, especially in Western European countries. France is the leading contributor in terms of consumption while Germany and the UK are the two other major countries.
