AVONDALE, La. – Author F. Lawrence recently partnered with Tate Publishing to kick-start the publication process of her personal memoir, "A Lost Voice Found: A Story of a Girl's Journey to Find Herself."

A story of self-confidence, purpose and love, "A Lost Voice Found" is an autobiographical book about a young woman in perpetual survival mode, while trying to find herself and her voice. It chronicles many of the experiences went through different path to self-discovery.

"This book started out as a journal. I began it only because I needed to release a lot of the pain I was holding on to due to my unresolved issues. As I started writing, God spoke to me and instructed me to share my story with others, because it is my testimony; for I have passed many tests by His grace. It took a little over a year to complete, but it was in the making for just over two years," shares Lawrence about the inspiration behind her book.

"The story continues as the young woman hopes to pass more tests and testimonies to share with the world."

Acquisitions Editor, Tate
Publishing*

"The story continues as the young woman hopes to pass more tests and testimonies to share with the world," states Charles Callaway, Acquisitions Editor for Tate Publishing.

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book is available through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore, or by visiting barnesandnoble.com or amazon.com.

Lawrence was always a good writer but never considered herself to be an author. It was the support of those closest to her that helped her make the transition and complete a manuscript. She is a mother, a daughter, a sister and a friend. She is in a stable, committed relationship and finally enjoying a peace that surpasses all understanding in her life.
