Watch Intelligent Skin Sense feature story on E! Entertainment as sponsored programming on Thursday August 4, 2016 at 6:30am EST/PST.

Intelligent Skin Sense is a company that was founded by Katz, who is a long time beauty pioneer. She coined the term "day spa" in the 1980s at her first spa in New York City. Intelligent Skin Sense's proprietary products are made of natural botanicals and scientific smart ingredients to help the skin combat signs of premature aging.

Katz explains why she decided to start Intelligent Skin Sense. She says, "The way it came about was that I saw there was a change in the industry simply because people just didn't have the same amount of time. So my thought was to create a very simple product line that really got results, there was a lot of ease and simplicity with it and could bring the spa home to the end user so that if they couldn't get to the spa because they're time crunched, they can do this at home."

JL Haber, Vice President of Programming for Modern Living with kathy Ireland®, is very happy to feature Intelligent Skin Sense. He says, "Marlene Katz is a true pioneer in the beauty industry. Because of her expertise, we now have Intelligent Skin Sense, which has made skincare more affordable and more attainable for people all over the country. We couldn't be more excited to have Intelligent Skin Sense on our show."
