With over 88,000,000 people that attend horse-related events in the USA each year, America's interest in what's happening to them has never been greater.

"America's horses are disappearing and along with them goes a part of us, says filmmaker, Katia Louise. "We can't bring back those we've lost, but we have the power to make a difference for generations to come." In an effort to save, protect and preserve wild and domestic equines, as opposed to the promotion of horse slaughter and widespread roundups throughout the American West, Saving America's Horses' Director, Katia Louise is calling on members of the public who care about the horses and the environment to join in a united stance for the horses with Saving America's Horses by going to www.savingamericashorses.org and clicking on the join button, which will continue to raise awareness and provide ongoing education on this critical issue.
