

Ikkletots Bandana Bibs for Girls Debut to Five Star Reviews

Emerging Leader in Baby Accessories Scores Top Reviews from Bloggers, Moms and Caregivers after Expanding Its Bandana Drool Bib Collection

SYLMAR, CALIFORNIA, USA, September 2, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NEW YORK, N.Y. – Ikkletots, an emerging leader in stylish baby and toddler accessories, announced today that its new collection of bandana bibs exclusively for baby and toddler girls has debuted to rave reviews on Amazon.com. The new collection is earning top marks, including five-star reviews from mothers and bloggers who have purchased the bibs for drooling and teething tots.

“This set of bandana drool bibs is so cute,” said a recent Amazon.com consumer who is ranked as a Top 1000 reviewer and gave Ikkletots bandana bibs for girls a five-star review. “This is the first set of bibs that I have that has three snaps so the bibs can be more fitted on your child. I have a five-month old so the middle setting actually works best for us now. Really satisfied and would recommend!”

Other moms that have given the bandana bibs five-star reviews, including the founder of the popular blog One Messy Mama, have hailed the bibs as beautiful, well-made, incredibly absorbent, practical, stylish and “a great product.” The success of the new bandana bibs exclusively for girls comes on the heels of the company’s launch of its unisex bandana bib collection.

Ikkletots bandana bibs for girls are sold in a four-pack gift set and retail for $16.99. Like the company’s popular unisex collection, the bandana bibs for girls feature two sides, one made from 100 percent cotton and the other of soft fleece. The unique construction keeps babies dry, clean and comfortable. The 3 adjustable nickel-free snaps allow moms to use the bibs for babies age three months old up to age three. They are also machine washable for added convenience.
