ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, UNITED STATES, August 28, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- OMTimes Magazine is Proud to Present its August Edition Featuring the Actor Matthew McConaughey.

ASHEVILLE, North Carolina, U.S., August 28, 2016 -- OMTimes Media releases today its last August Edition hosting the Academy Award winner Matthew McConaughey and his new movie "The Sea of Trees." In his Interview, McConaughey shared, "The Sea Of Trees deals with something spiritual. Some may see it, as it has to do with God. Some may say it has to do with reincarnation... literal purgatories, what have you. Many films that deal with that subject matter become very heavy-handed in an effort to impress a message. This thing is just poetic. It's going to let everyone leave the theater and have his or her own talk through the parking lot to philosophize about what it was about and what it wasn't about...".

OMTimes Publisher, Christopher Buck was fortunate enough to also sit with Ken Kao, the Executive Producer of the movie, to talk about the behind the scenes details and the production of this touching film. "The Sea of Trees" is a powerful story of love and redemption. Matthew McConaughey stars as Arthur Brennan, an American professor who travels to Japan in the midst of a personal crisis. As he wanders through a mysterious forest with a dark past, he experiences flashbacks of his fraught but loving relationship with his wife, Joan (Naomi Watts), and meets an enigmatic stranger, Takumi (Ken Watanabe), who is lost and injured. Arthur devotes himself to saving Takumi and returning him home to safety, and the two embark on a spiritual, life-changing journey of friendship, discovery, and healing - one which may ultimately reconnect Arthur with his love for his wife. Ken Kao is co-founder and CEO of Waypoint Entertainment, a production, development, and financing company.
