

Bride-To-Be Beauty Tips from Aotearoa Beauty

So, you're getting married. Let the excitement commence... and the stress ... and the worry lines, grey hairs ... you get the picture.

LA, CA - CALIFORNIA, USA, September 5, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Getting married is by far one of the most exciting days you'll ever have in your life, but the lead up can take its toll Aotearoa Beauty has come up with some beauty tips that are guaranteed to make you feel and look amazing on your special day. Firstly, don't wash your hair on the day. Your hair is going to look much nicer once the natural oils have taken hold, so if you need to wash – do it the night before. This gives time for it to rejuvenate and get its shine! Also you might want to check the weather before choosing a hair design. The last thing you want is to spend 5 hours in curlers for a beautiful down-style, only for rain to pour on you in the first 5 minutes.

Get ready for the close ups! Take a good, close look at your face and know that it will be set in photographs that will be looked upon for generations... This is where you want to take advantage of things like your pre-purchased blackhead remover kit, tweezers, concealer and nose hair trimmer to tidy up any loose hairs

Make sure everything is water resistant. Whether it's the moment you spot your future husband as you walk down the aisle, the romance as you say your vows, or saying hello and goodbye to long lost relatives: there's no doubt about it. You're bound to cry at some point. Or if you don't – someone else might! So you want to make sure you have water resistant make-up on. Another option: hide wipes and concealer in the bathroom in case you need it.
