

New features and updates at HospitalRecruiting.com

*In the previous quarter
HospitalRecruiting.com has released
several new features and upgrades*

BLOOMINGTON, INDIANA, UNITED STATES, September 6, 2016
/EINPresswire.com/ --

HospitalRecruiting.com, a national healthcare job board, would like to announce the release of several new features and upgrades to it's website over the last three months.

New Features:

Keyword Search – In addition to filtering jobs by profession/specialty and city/state locations, job seekers may now filter job search results by using keywords such as “outpatient only” to further refine job search results.

New job alerts without registration – Previously job seekers were required to register an account in order to receive new job alerts, but now job seekers can elect to receive job alerts without registering by typing an email address into the provided field on any of our job search results pages.

Website Upgrades

We have successfully completed migration to a new web hosting company and site server.

We have made continued improvements to make our website even more mobile friendly.

We have also continue to make improvements to the coding behind our website to improve load times and site speed.

Healthcare Career Resources Blog

We've also added several new contributors to our site's blog including several physicians, physician recruiters, and healthcare human resources professionals. Check out our newest post, Examining Relationship Based Physician Recruiting.

HospitalRecruiting.com strives to constantly improve its website and its performance. Stay tuned for future announcements on site improvements and please contact us with any questions.
