

Janssen Showcase Novel Protein-Based Biologics for the Treatment and Prevention of Superbugs

Janssen to present exclusive keynote at Superbugs USA summit this fall

ISELIN, NEW JERSEY, UNITED STATES, September 8, 2016

/EINPresswire.com/ -- SMi are thrilled to have antibacterial expert and author, Dr Anthony Simon Lynch, present at the Superbugs & Superdrugs USA industry summit when it arrives to Iselin, New Jersey on November 14th and 15th.

Simon has worked in antibacterial drug discovery and development with roles of increasing responsibility in both biotechnology and pharmaceutical settings for almost two decades. He is currently a Senior Scientific Director at Janssen R&D and leads an internal venture focused on the development of novel biologic agents for the treatment and prevention of serious staphylococcal infections.

With a focus on novel protein-based biologics and addressing challenges in antibiotic drug discovery and development, Dr Lynch will be giving a keynote address discussing bacteriophage-derived lysins, antibody drug conjugates and novel protein scaffolds. The program will also include presentations from AstraZeneca, Pfizer, the Pan American Health Organization, BARDA, Zoetis and more.

Further information including a detailed conference agenda and full speaker line-up is available online at www.superbugs-usa.com
