EINPresswire.com/ -- Market Synopsis
of Pressure Pumping

Market Scenario

Significant depletion of matured oil fields has forced Oil companies to shift their focus towards drilling activities. Pressure pumping being an essential part of pumping oil from matured oil fields and increased drilling activities to pump oil from unconventional onshore fields is leading to a significant increase in the demand in the Pressure Pumping Market. With the further depletion of oil fields the market for pressure pumping is going to witness further growth due to increasing complexity of pumping oil from shallow oil fields.

Hence the market for Pressure pumping is expected to grow at XX% CAGR (2016-2027).
