

Announcing The Train the Trainer Business Program

Doulagivers is Excited to Announce the Train the Trainer Business Program.

NEW YORK CITY, UNITED STATES, September 20, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/

-- Have you ever thought about having your own business training? Working on your own schedule? Are you passionate about end of life care and being a teacher and mentor to those in your community? If you answered yes to these questions, having a Doulagivers Training business may be the perfect fit for you.

We are giving an opportunity to passionate, educated, and knowledgeable individuals to have their own Doulagivers training business and keep 100% of their profits! As you may already know, Doulagivers is an organization that was created to offer the best education available in elder care and end of life care. Doulagivers is the new, specialized non-medical healthcare for the elderly. We train our Doulas to care for people holistically, (physically, emotionally and spiritually) during their last phase of life, guiding them and their loved ones through the end of life process, and even supporting loved ones during the grieving process after death. End of Life Doulas are also known around the world as: End of life coaches, soul midwives, transition guides, death coaches, death doulas, doula to the dying, end of life doulas, death midwives, and end of life guides. Due to the enormous number of the elder population, there is an overwhelming need for these services and support. Doulagivers is being requested to come and do community workshops in almost every part of the United States. That is why we are accepting applications for those who are interested in being Doulagiver trainers now. It is one of the greatest times in health care. Why? because of the enormous positive impact that we are seeing within this movement. It is time to have those who are called to do this work have an opportunity to have their very own Doulagivers Training Business.

Our Doulas are thoroughly trained in all three phases of end of life, which include: The Shock Phase, The Stabilization Phase and the Transition Phase and how to offer the most comfort throughout these phases to both the patient and loved ones. These trainings are designed to help support someone from the time of a terminal diagnosis all the way through, until after a person dies and helping a family to "re- enter" life after loss. As an End of Life Doula you will offer the latest options for care, end of life planning, and help with creating sacred rituals, as well as support in grief, bereavement and recovery. Doulagivers End of Life Doulas are not home health aides; rather, they are professionals who guide and support the family and patient through their entire end of life journey.

THE TRAIN THE TRAINER BUSINESS PROGRAM:
Have you ever thought about owning your own business, making your own hours, and serving your community all at the same time? Well, now you can! Doulagivers is now offering a Train the Trainer Business Program. to course enrollment costs) which will allow you to use all information on our website as well as our online classrooms for YOUR students. Everything is already up and running and you will be able to generate your own source of income by selling these course packages yourself. We will also offer business support in the form of assisting with creating social media marketing,(Face Book, Twitter, Instagram etc) website development and community outreach specific for you as a Certified Doulagivers Business owner and Trainer, as well as listing you on our official website in the region you reside, and to help refer students and clients to you. You may use all information supplied by Doulagivers in live teachings (whether online or in a physical setting) or simply sign people up to the established online courses and serve as technical support, question and concerns manager, and grading exams for the higher-level courses offered. You will be collecting the money for the classes you sell/teach and you will keep 100% of it! However, all of your clients that you sign up will be required to pay an annual fee of $149.00 which is our membership fee and gives them access to private support groups, the Doulagivers community, newsletters and blog updates. All of your clients will also be able to contact the Doulagivers team directly for any inquiries they may have, at any time. This will be your opportunity to create an additional or primary source of income for yourself, while simultaneously is helping to expand this growing movement and spread the information needed to help our elder populations in their precious last phase of life. It is up to you how small or large you would like to make your individual business. This is an amazing opportunity for everyone willing to commit to the movement and end of life care as a profession. We will only consider the most qualified candidates to carry on the work of Doulagivers.

The Movement: As a society, we have strayed away from the fundamental sense of community during End of Life. The fear and stigma surrounding death has caused too many people to endure unnecessary suffering because they equate this natural process to "giving up." This is far from the truth. We all, as humans, will eventually pass on from the physical world we know. Although this can seem distressful, it is just as natural as bringing in a new life. At Doulagivers, we believe that every person should have the most positive passing possible. To accomplish this, we need a community of family caregivers, volunteers and Certified End of Life Doula Practitioners educated and ready to help both patients and their loved ones with End of Life Care located all over the world. By providing a patient with the ability to leave this world in peace, with dignity and identity intact, we are reviving a lost communal service.
