

Relovate and GroundLink Announce Strategic Partnership

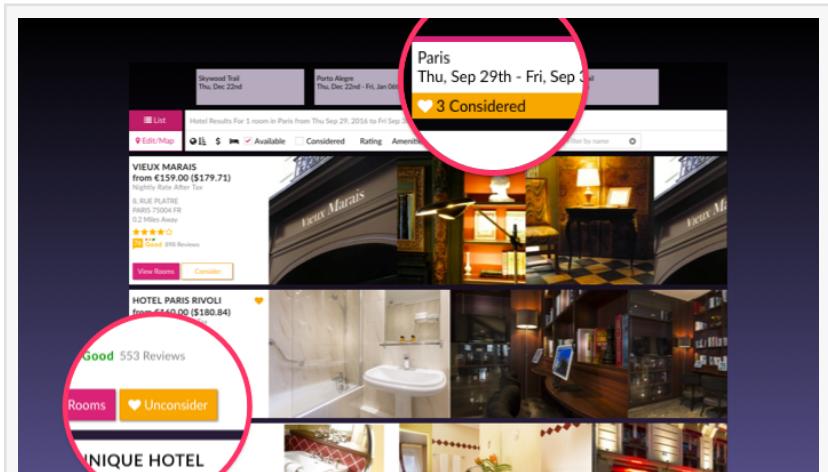

Global Ground Transportation Provider Now Integrated into Relovate's Pre Book Consider Function

MOUNT ARLINGTON, NJ, UNITED STATES, September 20, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mount Arlington, NJ, [09/20/16] – Relovate (<https://www.relobrate.com>), the first-of-its-kind personal trip planning and booking website, announced today that it has integrated GroundLink (<http://www.groundlink.com>), a leading global, tech-enabled black car service, on its private, advertising-free trip planning and booking platform. Relovate offers travelers a personal workspace where they can search, save and book all elements of a trip, including flights, hotels, car rentals, restaurants, activities, ground transportation, and points of interest. Integrating GroundLink reflects Relovate's strategic focus on creating advanced planning and booking capabilities for the user. It is the latest enhancement to a series of functions aimed at providing highly personal, preference driven and streamlined trip planning and booking from a single site.

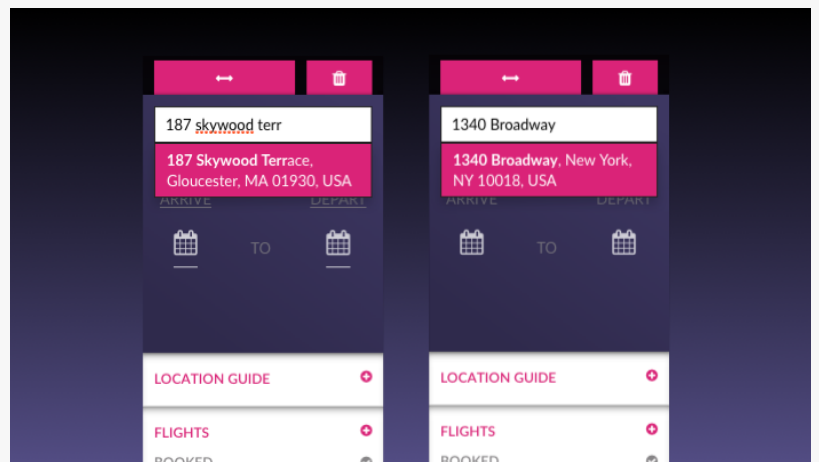

“We are pleased to be joining forces with GroundLink as they have an excellent service and duty-of-care reputation, strong global presence and a leading technology platform, including advanced mobile capabilities. Black car service through GroundLink enables our users to pre-plan their point-to-point transportation needs using the safest and most convenient options available. Paired with our Pre Book Consider function, Relovate users can now rapidly identify and save ground transportation options to their personal trip plan, and then share those options using our Collaboration capabilities,” said Sheli Gupta, CEO and co-founder at Relovate.

Relovate's “address to address” trip planning capabilities make GroundLink integration even easier for users. Trip plans can be built around specific addresses and these are pre-populated for users
