About The El Quixote Festival: The Festival's initial intention is to celebrate the 400th anniversary and closing of Miguel De Cervantes Saavedra's two books simply known now as "El Quijote", while placing a special emphasis on artistic creations in the Spanish language. Genres such as visual arts, literature, opera, music, dance, theater, film, gastronomy along with various academic events are programmed.

Additional goals are to broaden the artistic landscape in North Carolina, reach new and more diverse audiences and to build relationships, share knowledge, learn and build consensus. The collaborative festival runs from September 29, - April 23. The festival was created by Rafael A. Osuba who serves as its Artistic Director. The first annual festival season was launched on September 29, 2015 through April 23, 2016, with over 154 days of programming engaging more than 50,000 spectators with events in 10 cities across the state of North Carolina.

About ASP:

Artist Studio Project: Promoting Art and Culture through collaborative projects.

ASP is a collaborative of artists working to help promote each other's talents and art through various media forms. Artist studio project will team up artists on an intellectual endeavor that is creative in nature and by doing provide a platform to create by sharing knowledge, learning and building consensus.
