

COMPUTOP partners with payment technology expert LIMONETIK

... increasing its portfolio with new strategic payment methods specific to the French online retail market...

PARIS, FRANCE, September 20, 2016

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Computop, the international Payment Service Provider (PSP) for secure and compliant payment processing based in Germany, and Limonetik, the French Fintech expert in International payment methods and payment solutions for merchants and marketplaces, are pleased to announce their partnership.

Computop is already connected with a huge range of multichannel payment methods, and partnered with leading technology and integration providers. With a client network of over 14,000 international merchants and global marketplaces, the company wanted to increase its portfolio with new strategic payment methods for France – for example payment by instalment. To achieve this, Computop has partnered with Limonetik to access a variety of local French payment methods such as Cofidis, 1euro.com, Cetelem, Facilipay and Cheque-Vacances (eANCV).

After signing a major partnership with UATP, the global travel payment network, in Q1, this contract with Computop confirms and strengthens Limonetik's international positioning.”

“With the online share of retail in France increasing in strength, it is essential for us to continue improving Paygate for our customers, providing them with more alternative methods of payment that are in line with the cultural purchasing habits of the French market,” explains Ralf Gladis,

CEO and Co-Founder of Computop. “Limonetik significantly improves our payment services in France. To boost conversion rates and customer satisfaction, our customers can now take advantage of a top-of-the-line product with great services and French payment methods that include eChèque-Vacances and payment by instalments for the local online market.”

An expert in the complex industry of payments, always looking after supporting customer experience and addressing clients' issues, Limonetik delivers high level services via its technological online platform. Offering a large selection of payment methods in a 'processing only' or 'full service' model, Limonetik delivers a strategic range of additional services for PSPs and merchants: management of payment flow, data reconciliation, dispatch - payout, etc. and all of this with no impact on customers IT systems.

In addition to PSP's value added proposition, the sophisticated technology platform of Limonetik offers new business possibilities; Limonetik accelerates the Time to Market to connect new payment methods, simplifies their integration and delivers key services.

“After signing a major partnership with UATP, the global travel payment network, in Q1, this contract with Computop, the major European PSP servicing clients in Europe and beyond, confirms and strengthens Limonetik’s international positioning. Business with Computop is already underway and we are ready to announce this important project to the world!” says Christophe Bourbier, Chairman and Co-Founder of Limonetik.
