About Angels Above

Angels Above was established in 2016 and is based in Lexington, KY. Written by Shannon Clark and Illustrated by Laura Watson, Angels Above was created as a fun way to remind children that God is always with them by incorporating the plush Angel Friend into their daily routine. "The idea for Angels Above started after the holidays when my son asked if he could put our nativity scene in his room," says Shannon Clark, author of Angels Above. "I realized that a small symbol of God's love and presence was all he needed to feel secure and protected." As a parent of two young children, I want to ensure that they always feel loved. That is why I created Angels Above and hope to share the same message with children everywhere. It was also a desire to give back by meeting the basic need of providing meals for children. That's why every purchase on the Angel's Above website gives 10 meals.
