The augmented demand for glaucoma surgical devices in emerging countries is the key driver for the growth of this market. In emerging countries like China, India, and Brazil improvements in medical infrastructure have led to the availability of advanced treatment options, which has made it possible for people to undergo glaucoma surgeries.

Product-based segmentation of the glaucoma surgical devices market

- Glaucoma implants
- Glaucoma surgical instruments

According to this market research, glaucoma implants segment accounted for a share of nearly 60% of the overall market in 2015. Since these implants are available in different designs, they bring about improvements in the surgical technique, which results in improved clinical outcome. Also, the ability of these implants to reduce the operative and post-operative complications is another important factor that propels market growth in this segment during the forecast period.

Geographical segmentation of the glaucoma surgical devices market

- Americas
- APAC

- EMEA

WiseGuy Reports market research analysts estimate the Americas to dominate the global market for glaucoma surgical devices during the forecast period. The high prevalence of glaucoma in the Americas is a critical factor that results in this region's high market share of nearly 49% during the forecast period.

Competitive landscape and key vendors

The global glaucoma surgical devices market is fragmented due to the presence of many global and local players. The vendors that can develop products that are safe, easy to use, widely available, and cost-effective are expected to thrive in this market during the forecast period.
