

Focusky Presentation Software Surprises Users with its Animation Editor

Focusky can make the presentation with more surprises. With the high path animation effect, users can express the ideas in more engaging way.

HONGKONG, CHINA, October 27, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Focusky presentation software, overwhelming majority of customer support and trust, makes an official announcement on the design and development of the Action Path animation effect, making it the bellwether in the field of presentation making.

Undoubtedly, it is the most encouraging news to the industry. At this very moment, a trend of adding animation into the presentation is being inspired. People will love this design and creation. Action path makes the presentation more than a video; it makes it the animated video one. It is the users that create all the detail of their animated video presentation. Focusky has users dive into the glamorous world of video presentation creating.

It must have reasons why the action path effect is driven. It appeals to broad and general audiences. If the effects of entrance, emphasis and exit make the objects move on the canvas, then the action path keep the objects moving on the canvas. Only with this key feature can action path win popularity around the society, making Focusky presentation software outstandingly different from others.

Senior engineer Kwok from Focusky said, "We are devoted to helping users make outstanding presentation. Their satisfaction keeps us momentum. Now, we have got a breakthrough in our Animation Editor, the Action Path Effect." "With this outstanding function, users could be the only person to control the objects in the presentation. Create it and keep it moving during presenting." he added.

Action path gives a stationary object life. Below are the benefits of applying action path in the presentation.

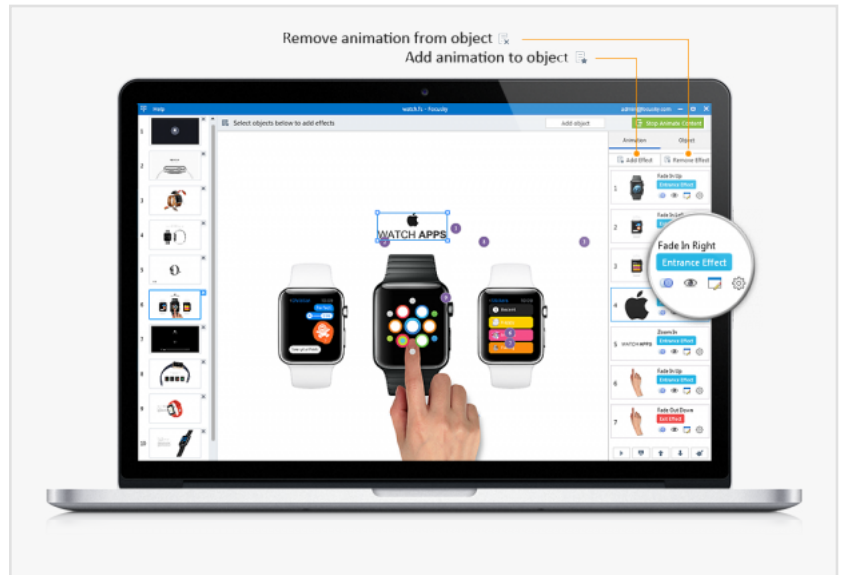

- Catch much more attention
- Add the frequency of interactions
- Boost conversation rates
- Gain more cooperation opportunities
