

Giggrabbers' New Platform Disrupts the Crowdfunding and Outsourcing World

Giggrabbers combines crowdfunding with online outsourcing, effectively disrupting the two industries.

NEW YORK, NY, USA, October 28, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Giggrabbers is a revolutionary online crowdfunding, outsourcing, and project visualization platform that helps individuals and businesses bring their projects and ideas to life. It's the first and only platform of its kind, and here's how: Crowdfunding and online outsourcing have always been provided separately and independently of each other, until now. Giggrabbers has combined the two popular technologies into one interdependent tool. What Giggrabbers provides is novel and very useful to users looking to start a venture, find funding, or even users that are hosting an event (see images).

By combining crowdfunding and outsourcing into one software, Giggrabbers improves upon each technology in a very interesting way. Adding a visualization element just makes it so much better. Individuals and businesses can now raise funds for up to eight tasks within a project (by way of a crowdfunding campaign) and then outsource those tasks to freelancers registered on the site. By then, you would've already mapped out those tasks using a circle-spoke wheel diagram (and it's interactive). Here's how it works:

Giggrabbers Project Visualization & Outsourcing

1. Project Visualization: The project visualization tool can be used to map out simple unrelated tasks (called a simple project) or a group of tasks that relate to one audacious project (called complex projects). Complex projects require a user to first indicate the type of project being pursued. Based on the project type, the user would complete a questionnaire, answering "yes" or "no" to Giggrabbers' pre-selected list of likely tasks. For example, the questionnaire for a venture/entrepreneurial project would pose the question: "Do you need a website?" or "Do you need a mobile app developer?" If the user answers yes, the platform adds the task to the circle spoke wheel diagram and proceeds to the next question. This happens until all questions are viewed or eight tasks are added to the wheel diagram. For each task, the user is then asked to provide a brief description, identify a budget range, and specify a date of expected completion. Then, your circle-spoke wheel project is live and poised to become something tangible.

2. Online Outsourcing: After all tasks have been described and posted to Giggrabbers' job page, the user monitors job proposals from freelancers, namely "giggrabbers" until one is selected for each task. A project page is also created where project owners can view and track feedback from supporters while keeping an eye on the crowdfunding campaign and overall project progress. The most important features of this service are that users can enjoy enhanced and interactive functionality when working on big projects. By allowing users to visually map out and outsource tasks, Giggrabbers' circle spoke wheel prompts users to approach their ideas as big projects unlike any other outsourcing platform.

3. Crowdfunding: The most unique feature about the way crowdfunding works on Giggrabbers is that funds can only be used towards hiring a freelancer to work on a project. In fact, funds can be restricted towards a specific task within the project or even a budget item within a task. So if an investor funds a website development task within a venture/entrepreneurial project, he can trust that his funds will be used towards that specific task. If the investor wishes to fund something more specific, he can fund a budget item within that task (e.g. down-payment, 1st milestone, 2nd milestone, etc.) As a result, crowdfunders can enjoy more transparency and flexibility when funding a project.

Every individual with a viable idea deserves a fair shot at bringing it to life, and Giggrabbers makes working on that idea easier and interestingly fun. By making big improvements to the way crowdfunding and outsourcing works, Giggrabbers sets the bar high for companies providing those services.
