Global Video Surveillance Market

Within the global video surveillance market, share for equipment such as cameras, monitors, and storage held a major share of the revenues in 2015. However, Video Surveillance as a Service (VSaaS) is expected to grow at the highest pace during the forecast period. The dynamics of the physical security industry have changed profoundly, owing to the ongoing innovations and advancements in its dominating contributor, i.e. Video Surveillance. Major application areas such as critical infrastructure, highways, banking, and financial institutions among others have become promising beneficiaries of video surveillance making it an indispensable tool to ensure both personal and public safety.

Infrastructural Application expected to dominate the Video Surveillance Market

Among the application verticals in the video surveillance systems, infrastructure holds the lion's share. This is attributed to the large scale investment by the government in the projects such as safe city and city surveillance among others. Following that, the commercial application is holding the second position in terms of revenue generation. The utilization of video surveillance software for business intelligence is the primary reason behind the proliferated market growth. Owing to this, the other sector is anticipated to grow at the fastest CAGR during the forecast period from 2016 to 2022.
