

TelePastor Selects FrontGate Media for Public Relations & Social Marketing Services

FrontGate Media is serving this new video conferencing platform by providing public relations and social marketing services to reach pastors and counselors

ORANGE COUNTY, CA, USA, November 8, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- FrontGate Media, the leading faith-based marketing service and media group, announced today the signing of TelePastor to their client roster. FrontGate Media is serving this new video conferencing platform by providing public relations and social marketing services.

TelePastor was created by My Client Notes LLC. to support the challenges of counseling ministries at churches of all sizes. By providing a HIPPA compliant video platform, pastors are able to be more effective in meeting the counseling needs of their church by offering a confidential, face to face video conference option. This allows for better time management and allows counseling to occur via any computer or mobile device. The TelePastor service makes counseling available to parents with small children, those who travel for work, elderly, parishioners who are homebound, church members who have moved and others the chance to receive needed counseling from wherever they are located.

When we started looking for a partner for publicity, FrontGate kept coming to the top of the list. We are thrilled to launch this platform to help churches serve members' counseling needs.

Karl Kay, CEO of TelePastor

Karl Kay, CEO of TelePastor, explains, “When we started looking for organizations to partner with for publicity FrontGate kept coming to the top of the list. We are thrilled that FrontGate is coming alongside us to launch this important platform that can help churches serve the counseling needs of their congregation.”

Scott A. Shuford, Founder/CEO of FrontGate Media states, "Pastors are the unsung heroes of our faith, stretched thin if not overwhelmed by competing demands for their time, energy and resources. I am thrilled to come alongside TelePastor which saves time for pastors and leaders while making them more productive and creating a very personal connection with their people."
