SHOREVIEW, MN, USA, November 9, 2016

/EINPresswire.com/ -- TSI Incorporated, a global leader in precision instrumentation, today announced that it has acquired MSP Corporation (Shoreview, MN).

MSP Corporation is an instrumentation and equipment company creating products for scientific research and industrial applications. They are known worldwide for their expertise in micro- and nano-particles and their creative use in research and manufacturing. MSP is the world leader in cascade impactor technology with products serving the pharmaceutical and aerosol research markets, as well nano-particle generation and measurement technology serving the semiconductor device fabrication market.

TSI President Tom Kennedy stated, "We are pleased to welcome MSP to the TSI Group. We see exciting long-term collaboration opportunities between the companies in addition to the immediate gains that can be realized by moving MSP's research products through TSI's global sales and distribution network. MSP's founder, Dr. Ben Liu, has been a visionary for many years and built MSP into a world-class organization. We are proud that he has entrusted TSI to grow MSP into the future as a member of the TSI Group."
