

Credit Czar and FICO All-Star MVP Howe Ready to Work with President-Elect Trump

SubscriberWise founder and the world's highest achieving credit scoring consumer, David E. Howe prepares to advance child protection with Trump Administration

MANHATTAN, NEW YORK, U.S.A., November 10, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ --

SubscriberWise, the nation's largest issuing consumer reporting agency for the communications industry and the leading provider of big data, advanced-analytics, and business-rules technology, announced today that the company founder and CEO is sending congratulations to President-Elect Donald Trump while also preparing to advance the organizations' relentless child-advocacy with the new administration.

"Today I congratulate Mr. Trump, his family, his campaign, and his supporters on their election victory," stated David Howe, SubscriberWise founder and the nation's leading protector of children victimized by identity fraud. "Although I publicly endorsed, financially supported, and proudly voted for Hillary Clinton, I'm not lamenting this election outcome in the least.

Rather I'm preparing now for the future opportunity to collaborate with President Trump, primarily for the benefit of the nation's most vulnerable – namely the defenseless children that have been ignored for too long

I'm reaching out to you for your guidance and your help so that we can work together and unify our great country"
President-Elect Donald Trump

"President-Elect Trump stated to the nation and the world that '...For those who have chosen not to support me in the past, of which there were a few people, I'm reaching out to you for your guidance and your help so that we can work together and unify our great country...it's time to bind the wounds of division and come together.'

David E Howe, SubscriberWise founder and FICO global G.O.A.T.

"I genuinely appreciate hearing these words from the nation's next President," continued Howe. "As the leader of one of the most elaborate and critical national organizations in this country, I'm routinely engaged with a myriad of complex federal, state, and local regulations. The mountain of rules alone means that there is no doubt that President Trump, along with his administration, will need guidance and help when it comes to policies dealing with the complexities of the credit and risk management industry.

“Protecting children with education and technology will also require specific guidance that the Trump Administration will desperately need,” emphasized Howe.

“Yes, in conjunction with President-Elect Trump’s statements for guidance and help, I’m looking forward to collaborating with the Trump Administration,” concluded Howe. “I’m looking forward to our shared goals of finding solutions that will benefit each and every one of us – including babies and minor children – in many meaningful ways now and into the future.”
