LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, November 12, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MarketCloud, the next generation of online trading, to showcase at the London Summit Hybrid Solutions, the developers of the award-winning VertexFX, will be showcasing their cloud-based trading platform, MarketCloud, at the London Summit Event, taking place on 14 and 15 November, at The Brewery.

MarketCloud is a certified application service provider that benefits both brokers and traders, giving them the opportunity to access the platform from anywhere and on any device.

MarketCloud enables brokers to:

- Lease the platform and profit share from trades, so avoiding expensive set-up fees
- Have access to the fully functioning VertexFX trading platform
- Securely manage the platform from anywhere and on any device

Through MarketCloud, brokers are able to easily set up a fully functional VertexFX platform on a pay-as-you-go scheme.

The platform is open to regulated brokers including FCA, CYSEC, NFA, ASIC and CRFIN and is suitable for use in Forex and global markets by dealing rooms, liquidity providers, exchanges, market makers, and brokerage firms. Additionally, brokers can lease the platform through the hosting service which eliminates the hassle of managing servers or outsourcing to multiple firms.

With many scripts added, the platform's usability is enhanced through the vStore, which allows front and back end users to request developers to build products and download standalone apps, mobile and web apps as well as many more APIs to build a richer and a unique platform.

Akram Majed, CEO of Hybrid Solutions, said: "The London Summit the prime event for the FX industry and it proved the perfect opportunity for us to showcase MarketCloud and the other services we offer.

“We believe MarketCloud is the next generation of online trading, it is a well-developed, secure and structured platform designed specifically for the changing needs of regulated brokers.

“Since its launch, more and more brokers are seeing the benefits of a cloud-based service and the business has seen a big increase in interest in offering MarketCloud to their traders. We are receiving more and more enquiries from brokers, who are looking for a flexible, reliable, fully functional, yet secure trading platform that is affordable and easy to set up.”

The Finance Magnates London Summit will be held at The Montcalm at the Brewery, London on 14 and 15 November. Hybrid Solutions will be on Stand 99.
