Cowboys4Angels "Nick Hawk" Interview Featured in the November Issue of Strip LV Magazine

Gigolos Showtime Series Star Exclusive Interview and Photos by Strip LV Publisher Scott P. Santodonato

LAS VEGAS, NV (November 11, 2016) — Nick Hawk, elite escort for www.cowboys4angels.com and the star of long-running Showtime series, Gigolos, is featured in the November 2016 issue of entertainment publication, Strip LV Magazine, in an in-depth, exclusive interview discussing his life in and out of his action-packed life and gorgeous, exclusive photos shot by publisher Scott P. Santodonato.

"During our interview and photoshoot with Nick, we found him entertaining and engaging. He lives with no fear, no regrets, and a lust for life that in turn inspires others," says Scott P Santodonato.

"It was a refreshing experience to be shot and interviewed by The Santos'. It was great to meet and hang with my fellow lovely Vegas people," says Hawk. "I'm very happy to be a part of StripLV November issue."

The intimate interview called "Nick Hawk: Hang On Tight!" Marla Santos speaks with the long-time Las Vegas resident about his childhood, his time in the Air Force, his on-screen persona verses his real-life personality, what it's like to have your million-dollar penis tattooed and how he feels women are replacing men in the "Alpha" role.

"I have a post: Turn On Light Bulbs. I enjoy turning on light bulbs with my clients, and people I'm talking to. If I can say something that makes them go: "Oh, I never thought about it that way," that's what I like to do. For every perspective in the book (Nick Hawk's 100 Kicks in the Ass), I try to be a light bulb," explains Hawk. "It's a new, fresh, honest perspective. It's bold, it's in your face, and this is how you have to be if you want to be confident. You have to be firm and sure of yourself. In the post I say something like: "Men, step up the game, or we might not be needed anymore." Women are more driven than men. They work harder, they kind of want to one-up us, and men are getting lazy. Girls are even hitting the gym more than guys are in this day and age, and they're really taking over the alpha male."
